UR visit to Kungsholmen English School

UR belongs to Swedish TV production , which makes programs for radio and TV.

These programs can be used to educate people in school. UR came to our school and they interviewed the 5th grade with the camera that wasn't plugged to see if they were afraid or uncomfortable to be filmed. UR asked them various questions about the human body and they asked what their names are and where they live. They also asked if they often yawn.

The real interview is going to take place on Friday and the cameras will be on, when they interview them. The program be watched on TV or internet.

In January UR came to the class and they made a theater which was about to dare to speak against someone and have a good self-esteem.

Liljevalchs museum

6th and 7th grade went to an art museum called Liljevalchs.

Liljevalchs museum is located on Djurgården, in Stockholm. It wasn't a long trip and they were there for an hour. They went there by train and had an assignment that they got from their art teacher. One part of the assignment was that they were supposed to take pictures at the museum and then do something with it on the art lesson. The pupils don't know what they are going to do with the pictures yet. We interviewed a boy in 7th grade about it. He believed it wasn't so fun and would probably not go there again. Because the sculptures and paintings weren't so good, it could be a blank background with a black dot in the middle, and they called it art. There wasn't any famous painters, according to this student.

Trip to Fotografiska museet

4th and 5th grade went to Fotografiska museet at Slussen.

They looked at the pictures, took some pictures and they watched a short movie. There were pictures of young and old people. The 4th grade thought the best was to go to the museum and not be in school all the time and the bad thing was that they could not be there for so long, they were there for about 30 minutes.

The pupils went there in March. They got there by subway.

The most interesting was the short movie since it was about a little boy who grew older.

Love week

In our school we had a love week where we talked and made posters about venereal diseases.

The idea of the week was to learn about love, sex and different venereal diseases and how to protect yourself.

The 7th – 9th graders watched a movie called "Hipp hipp hora". The movie was about a girl that just started upper secondary school with her two best friends. One of the popular boys in her class had a party the same night and she went to it. She got so intoxicated that she got unconscious. The boys in her school took pictures of her, took off her underwear and put it on her head. She started to get bullied because the pupils in her school thought that she was a hooker.

Some other things happened along but if you want to know what happened to her you should go and watch the movie. The movie is in Swedish.

The 8th and 9th graders went to the Youth clinic on Odenplan. There they got to learn about sex, different venereal diseases and how to put on a condom. The students also got free condoms. When you go to the youth clinic you always get free condoms and some of them are with taste. Condoms help people that have sexual intercourse, not to get pregnant and protect people from venereal diseases.

The 8th and 9th graders had a three-course dinner in the school which they made themselves. They didn't have it at the same time, the 8th graders had it on Tuesday and the 9th graders had it on Wednesday. The first dish was "Skagenröra" which is a mix of mayonnaise, crab, shrimp, different peppers and apple that we had on a piece of bread. The second dish was lasagna with salad. The third dish was chocolate cake with whipped cream. It was nice and fun.

The 7th – 9th graders were divided into different groups. The students talked about different venereal diseases like for example : HIV, chlamydia, herpes and many more. Every group got a paper about their disease and had to read and later on write about it.

The theater Don Giovanni

The name of the play is Don Giovanni and it is about a class in grade 6. The play got the name Don Giovanni because of one of the characters in the play whose name is Johan and he is the most popular kid in the school and the most attractive one. In the play there were a teacher, three pupils and a new girl in their class. Johan was always used to get what he wanted, so when the new girl Elvira began in their class Johan started to like her and he wanted to be together in a relationship with her, but Elvira didn't want him. When Johan asked her to get together with him, she said no. Then he got angry and went and got his friends to help him make Elvira listen, but when Elvira didn't want to listen one thing led to another, which means that his friends held her down while he raped her.

In an interview the 6th and the 7th graders said that the theater was really funny and good and it lasted for one hour.
